

The page is divided into two main sections by a horizontal dashed line. The top section is a blank white area. The bottom section is a grid of 20 columns and 20 rows. The grid is composed of solid black lines. The columns are of equal width, and the rows are of equal height. The grid is used for writing or drawing.

