

The page is a grid with 20 columns and 32 rows. A vertical dashed line is located between the 16th and 17th columns. The 16th column is shaded light orange. The 17th and 18th columns are white. The 19th column is shaded light orange. The 20th column is white. This 2-column pattern repeats for the remaining 15 columns. The rows are also shaded in a repeating pattern: rows 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, 11, 13, 15, 17, 19, 21, 23, 25, 27, 29, 31 are white, while rows 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 are shaded light orange.

The page is divided into three main horizontal sections by a dashed line near the top. The top section is a blank white area. The middle section is a large grid of 20 columns and 20 rows, with alternating light beige and white cells. The bottom section consists of 20 horizontal lines, creating a ruled area for writing.
